HOʻOMALUHIA BOTANICAL GARDEN

Long-Range Plan Informational Session

Hoʻomaluhia Botanical Garden is approaching the completion of its first-ever master planning process. Since last September, community input has been gathered through public workshops, focus groups, and stakeholder meetings — and that feedback is now reflected in a final draft long-range plan, which will be shared at our upcoming informational session.

The goals of this long-range planning process have been to:

- Enhance Visitor Experience: Ensure a meaningful, inclusive, and educational experience for all who visit the Garden with an initial focus on managing visitation and alleviating congestion to improve public safety.
- Engage the Community and Provide Accessibility: Expand the Garden's role as a community resource responsive to the needs of Koʻolaupoko residents.
- Preserve Environmental, Cultural, and Historical Resources: Acknowledge and integrate the cultural heritage of the ʻāina and its historical significance in the Garden's future development.
- Provide Botanical and Facility Development: Plan for the future improvements and care of the diverse plant collections, garden infrastructure, public facilities, educational spaces, and visitor amenities.

We are grateful to all of you who have participated in this year-long journey and we are excited to share this plan.
